

Grade 6 Poster Image

Poster Notes

The boy in this poster is no more than 10 years old. His job is to tend to the goats and make sure every one of them comes home each night. During the day, he walks with them for miles across a sandy desert in Africa, searching for food. This boy has never been to school. In fact, there is no school near enough for him to attend. His stomach is slightly bloated from being malnourished. Right after this photograph was taken, this young boy was all smiles because he had the opportunity to see his reflection on the video camera monitor, a new and captivating experience for him.
